

Visit the Castle o' Burrian,
Westray,
to see the puffins
from mid-April to late July

About 1.2km total round trip

Entering the road down to the car park from the Rapness to Pierowall road.

On to the car park by the old mill.

The car park is opposite this old mill.

Park up then walk past the mill.

The beginning of the walk, approximately 1.2km (0.75 miles) total.

Follow the staging. This is the safe wheelchair access viewing point.

The staging ends. Consensus of opinion is that wheelchair access is not possible beyond here. See the following pictures of the path, particularly on page 18 and please use your discretion.

Staging has been laid where there were difficult or dangerous parts of the trail.

The rock castle is in sight.

Puffin information.

The Castle o' Burrian

Looking towards Pierowall.

Heading back to the car park.

5 minutes away from the car park.

Having left the car park and heading towards Pierowall, this part of the road beyond the houses, is a left hand turn that takes you to the West Side, or drive straight on to the village, passing the Westray Parish Kirk seen at the brow of the hill.

When you return to Pierowall village, why not visit the Heritage Centre to see the reproduction geo?

The Pierowall Hotel in Westray offers accommodation, lunch and dinner
www.pierowallhotel.co.uk

Where to stay in Kirkwall
www.lynnfield.co.uk

For more information about Orkney and Westray go to www.orkney.com

For more information about Westray go to Westray and Papa Westray Tourist Association
www.westraypapawestray.co.uk

This book is free to download and is best read
on a tablet.

